

Information Literacy Workshop hosted by Carnegie Mellon University
Wednesday, August 8th, 2007
9 a.m. - 1 p.m.
University Center, Peter/McKenna Room, 2nd Floor

Agenda

- 8:30 - 9 Registration and Coffee
- 9 - 9:45 Welcome and Introduction
- 9:45 - 10 Break
- 10 - 12 Successful Collaborations with Guest Speaker Anne Betts
- 12 - 1 Wrap-up, Program Assessment and Lunch

Guest Speaker: Anne Betts

As a librarian for the Philipsburg-Osceola School District for 35 years, Anne has taught information literacy skills at both the elementary and secondary levels. She has presented workshops at the Pennsylvania School Librarians' Association Conference in Hershey, the Seneca Highlands Summer Curriculum Institute in Smethport, the Westmoreland County Association of School Librarians in Latrobe, as well as for the Laurel Reading Council and the Keystone State Reading Association. She teaches a course called "No More Boring Reports: Information Literacy Across the Curriculum" at Central Intermediate Unit #10, in West Decatur and conducts staff development workshops throughout central Pennsylvania. Anne is a noted speaker on college campuses for E.D.G.E. (Early Development of Great Educators,) the collegiate branch of the Pennsylvania School Education Association. She earned her B.S. in Education/Library Science from Edinboro University.

